

General Manager's Message

Here at Draper Irrigation/WaterPro, we are proud of our company, our history, our future, and our community. Our planning and decision-making center around what is best for our customers – the residents and businesses of Draper. To help meet the ever-evolving needs of our community, we can describe our goals in the following four areas.

We want to be a leader in the water industry. Ever since the company was founded in 1888, our focus has been on the future. Just look at some examples:

1. Our water treatment plant uses leading-edge membrane filtration technology to provide high-quality drinking water.
2. We are planning to reuse treated reclaimed water in our pressure irrigation system to help conserve our pure mountain water for its highest-value use as drinking water.
3. We are committed to water conservation and sustainability in all our planning. We have been here for 129 years and plan to be here for at least 129 more.

We want to be as independent as possible. While we gladly seek cooperation with other water utilities and have interconnections with Draper City, Jordan Valley Water Conservancy District, and the Metropolitan Water District of Salt Lake and Sandy, we are proud to hold our own water rights that help us ensure adequate water supplies for our customers and help keep our costs under control.

We want to provide the best quality of water at a reasonable cost. All of our master planning focuses on water quality, water safety, and customer service. As a mutually-owned not-for-profit organization, serving our customers is our chief concern.

We want to support our community. Draper Irrigation Company/WaterPro is the oldest continuously operating institution in Draper – almost a century older than the city itself. All the members of our Board of Directors have deep roots in the community.

Draper Irrigation/WaterPro is 100% committed to our community; we exist to serve the people and businesses who call Draper home. We are an integral part of Draper's past, present, and future.
